

FRIENDS OF GARDEN

MRS. VIOLET LOTT OF ST. PAUL
SAYS BIRDS DESTROY
HARMFUL INSECTS

Mrs. Violet M. S. Lott, of St. Paul, Minn., daughter of M. B. Hartmann of Glendale, who is following with much interest the work of the Glendale Garden society, and will probably pay the city and the society a visit before long, speaks a good word for the birds as an adjunct to the garden. This is in accordance with the movement all over the country for bird protection. She says:

Birds play an important part in relation to gardening. This has long been known but there seems to be a tendency to dwell on the harm they do rather than the good. Whether the bird is injurious or beneficial depends entirely upon what it eats. As insects constitute a large part of the diet of our common birds, they become destroyers of noxious insects, which is too often not appreciated. As objects of human care and interest birds occupy a place filled by no other living things and the various movements to protect and foster them would be fully justified were there no returns other than esthetic.

"Did you ever think what wondrous beings these, Whose household words are songs in many keys, Whose habitations on the tree tops even Are half way houses on the road to heaven?"

When birds are permitted to labor undisturbed they thoroughly police both earth and air. The thrushes, sparrows, larks, wrens and robins search the surface of the earth for insects and their larvae or hunt among the leaves and peer under logs and refuse for them. The warblers, vireos, creepers and nuthatches with their microscopic eyes scan every part of flower, tree or shrub and few hidden creatures escape them. The flycatchers, aided by the warblers, are ever on the alert to snap up insects when flying among trees and branches; while the swallows and night hawks patrol the air above the garden for such of the enemy as have escaped pursuit below. Thus each family plays its part in the never ending warfare and the number of insects annually consumed by the combined hosts is simply incalculable.

There are many ways of attracting birds to the garden and about the flowers. A convenient drinking and bathing place in the garden is one of the most effective lures for birds known. Special care should and must be taken to keep cats away from the garden or the birds will soon leave. Another lure for birds is to provide small boxes in a high place in which the birds may build their nests and rear their young unmolested.

Perhaps the most common and certainly one of the most enjoyable sights is the American robin in the midst of the garden. There is nothing more delightful than his hearty challenge and jolly song. This bird is protected by law in the United States except in a few Southern states. The robin is the great enemy of the white grub, the May beetle and June bug. He is also an inveterate devourer of earth worm in spring. The bluebird, "Darling of the Spring," destroys quantities of cut worms and other caterpillars. In August grasshoppers constitute more than 60 per cent of its food.

Another class of insect destroyer and a friend of the garden is the American toad. The common toad, nocturnal and quiet of habit, renders valuable service to gardeners throughout the growing season or during the period of destructive insect life. They are voracious feeders and consume large numbers of insects. Earthworms, snails, sow bugs, thousand legged spiders, grasshoppers, crickets, ants, beetles, cutworms, tent caterpillars, etc., form their chief food. The toad has a strong home instinct and will live year after year in the same garden.

The common bat is a little animal thought of such slight importance that many attempts are often made to kill it. The bat is not only self constituted as a preserver of flowers and plants, but also prevents, wherever present, that pest so common and bothersome—the mosquito. Owing to the nocturnal flight of bats their habits are not well understood, but it is safe to say they are not only harmless but highly beneficial. They feed entirely on insects caught on the wing. Bats shot in the evening after flying a few minutes will usually be found so gorged it does not seem possible their stomachs can hold more. If their digestion is as rapid as that of other insectivorous

SCHOOL AND CAMPUS

ROSTRUM DEBATE POSTPONED—
STUDENT BODY GOVERNMENT
—GENERAL NOTES

It has been definitely settled that "The Rostrum" will not give the debate which has been so widely advertised. Prof. Taylor, one of the negative speakers, is still confined to his home on account of illness. Herbert Scheuner, president of "The Rostrum," reports that the debate will be held early next fall, and will be even better then because the Republicans shall have then selected their candidate. The postponement of the debate was felt as a keen disappointment by many, and they are all hoping that Mr. Taylor will soon recover.

Commission Form of Government.
The efficiency of our Student Body government has been the chief theme for discussion this year among those interested in the success of student self government. At the present time the legislative body consists of a House, to which all the students who have paid their membership dues, belong, and a Senate, whose members are elected and appointed. All forms of legislation must pass both the House and Senate and be signed by the governor before they become laws.

The enrollment in the school is now over 600 and it becomes very difficult to transact business effectively before such a large body. In a few years the enrollment will reach the 1,000 mark, and it will then be absolutely necessary to change the form of student body government. Many of the student body officers at present favor the plan of adopting a commission form of government. This government would consist of a council of about twenty or thirty students, elected by the student body at large. The student body would have the power of initiative, referendum and recall, and so would indirectly have as much power as it exercises at the present time.

This plan will be presented either at the end of this school term or at the beginning of next term, and should receive at least a little consideration beforehand by the students.

General Notes
There is a ball game scheduled this afternoon between the Freshmen and the Intermediate ball teams. The Seniors in the physics class have been mulling something about a four-period ex. Poor old overworked Seniors!
The regular half-day examinations for interclassmen starts tomorrow morning.
The Seniors surely are anticipating the affair which will be given by the Juniors on Friday night.

FLORAL TRIBUTE TO CONSTANTINO

At the instance of the Music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, Florencio Constantino, the famous tenor singer, was presented with a floral offering at the close of the opera "Aida," in Clune's Auditorium. The floral piece was a huge star, three feet from tip to tip. It was built up of red carnations and in the center was a huge "C" in white carnations. The star was the work of the Kelley & McElroy nursery. It was greatly admired and the critics of such matters said with one accord that it was the most beautiful tribute as well as the one in the best taste that had been seen at the Auditorium this season. The presentation was made by Mrs. E. W. Kinney, curator of the Music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

animals the number of insects consumed in a night by a single bat must be enormous. The great deposits of bat guano found in caves and under roosting places represent in some cases hundreds of tons of insect remains.

There are few other protectors of the garden which are not also food for birds. After all the best means for protecting one's garden is by attracting the birds. With a little patience they may be taught not to fear and are pretty friends.

"Preaching boldly to the sad the folly of despair
And telling whom it may concern
That all the world is fair."

It has been shown by investigations of the Department of Agriculture that about 65 per cent of the food of birds is made up of insects nearly all harmful to the growth of trees, plants and shrubs. Where means are taken to attract the native birds, very little trouble is usually experienced from insects and the garden shows great beauty and thrift.

BIG CONVENTIONS OPEN AT CHICAGO

REPUBLICANS ORGANIZE AND ADJOURN—PROGRESSIVES
DEMONSTRATE FOR ROOSEVELT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CHICAGO, June 7.—Scenes of great enthusiasm marked the opening of the conventions in the Coliseum here today. The Republican convention was called to order at 11:28 a. m. by Chairman Charles D. Hilles, wielding a gigantic mallet. James Reynolds, secretary of the National convention, read the call for the convention. After several preliminary pieces of routine business the convention adjourned until tomorrow at 11 a. m.

The Progressive National convention met in the Auditorium. Temporary Chairman Robbins assumed control of the convention and began his address. Immediately a great Roosevelt demonstration shook the convention. The demonstration lasted the better part of an hour.

KITCHENER'S DEATH STIRS ENGLAND

BRITISH RECRUITING RECEIVES GREAT STIMULUS—DEMAND FOR INTERNMENT OF GERMANS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, June 7.—There was a marked stimulus of volunteer recruiting yesterday as a result of the death of Lord Kitchener. Today is the last day of the volunteer system and every recruiting station throughout the country is thronged by eager crowds of eligible young men. There is a general demand throughout the country that every enemy ally in the islands be interned at once regardless of sex, age or nationality. The belief is general that the Germans knew of the exact movements of Kitchener and his party. It is openly stated here that there are enemy allies in close touch with high officials and that the torpedoing of the Hampshire was the result of espionage and treachery.

There is every indication that a great political struggle is ahead of the country. Meantime either General Robertson or Lloyd-George will take Kitchener's place.

RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE ATTRACTS ALL EYES

MOVEMENTS OF CZAR'S ARMIES CONSIDERED OF VITAL IMPORTANCE IN THE BIG CAMPAIGN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, June 7.—Interest on the part of military critics both here and in France centers on the movements of the armies of the czar. The great offensive developing along the whole of a front of 250 miles from the Pripet river southwest to the Roumanian frontier is considered the most significant development in the European war situation. The operations have now lasted a week and the Teutons have not been able to make any headway against them. The Russians have already captured more than 500 German and Austrian officers and more than 30,000 men. They have also taken a large number of field and machine guns. Each day the Russian attack is becoming more intense. It will have a profound effect on the Austrian campaign in Italy.

CHIEF PLANKS IN PROGRESSIVE PLATFORM

PREPAREDNESS, A LARGE NAVY AND UNIVERSAL MILITARY SERVICE, REVISION OF TARIFF INSISTED ON

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CHICAGO, June 7.—It is understood that the chief planks in the Progressive platform are: Preparedness, a great navy, universal military service, a strong foreign policy, improved labor conditions, extension of the initiative, and the referendum, advocacy of more liberal changes in the constitution, tariff revision and a merchant marine.

CLOSE VOTE ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE IN IOWA

NINETY-FOUR COUNTIES OUT OF NINETY-NINE GIVE 5743
MAJORITY AGAINST VOTES FOR WOMEN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 7.—"Votes for Women" had the call on public interest at the polls throughout the State today. Today's battle is the climax of a long fight. Ninety-four counties out of 99 give a vote of 144,996 against suffrage and 139,253 for.

EXTRAORDINARY DEMONSTRATION FOR ROOSEVELT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CHICAGO, June 7.—(Auditorium).—All records were broken by the thundering demonstration that was started by the mention of the name of Theodore Roosevelt, in the Progressive Convention today. Temporary Chairman Raymond Robbins got no further than the first paragraph of his speech which concluded with the words, "They enlisted for public service behind the bravest and wisest leader of the people in our time, behind the foremost private citizen of the world—Theodore Roosevelt." Immediately pandemonium broke loose. The demonstration lasted one hour and thirty-six minutes.

WORK ON RAILWAY

PACIFIC ELECTRIC ROAD IS BEING
GRADED ON ONE TRACK
OUT TO CHILD'S TRACT

Work on the Pacific Electric street railway is being rapidly pushed. The grade for one track has been completed as far out as the Child's tract. This one track will now be laid as fast as possible. Material for the track will be on the ground by Thursday and the work will be pushed with great rapidity.

When the one track has been laid it will be utilized for the purpose of taking out the other track. As the second grade is being completed part of the material that is taken out will be used to make up the temporary surface of the road. The moment the ties and rails arrive in the city work will be begun to get them laid. The single track is now completed and turned round into the Child's tract and the extension will very soon be an accomplished fact.

LITERARY SECTION MEETS

What proved to be one of the most enjoyable of the sessions of the Literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon club was held Tuesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. C. E. Harlan, the curator, 943 Mariposa. The curator called the gathering to order. Roll call was responded to by current events. Sixteen members were present and three guests. Mrs. O. W. Tarr gave a very interesting review of C. E. Saunders' exhaustive treatise "With Flowers and Trees," which is a very comprehensive volume on plant life and growth in California. Mrs. Bertelson read and explained Irving Bacheller's beautiful story, "Darrell of the Blessed Isles." The reader charmed everyone by the dramatic power of her interpretation and by the skilful manner in which she connected up the thread of the story between her selections. The section adjourned to meet again June 20 on the occasion of the annual luncheon.

EVERGREEN RASPBERRY

Those who are fond of experimentation in plant raising might try the plan that has proved so successful with Kelley & McElroy in propagating begonias and other plants. Just now they are trying to propagate with success cuttings of the Evergreen Raspberry (Rubus Ellipticus). This beautiful shrub, which keeps its foliage and greenness all the year round, is best propagated by means of bottom heat. In order to accomplish this all that is necessary is three large grocery or dry goods boxes. The bottom section, which consists of a large empty box with a home-made door, contains nothing but a kerosene lamp to provide heat. The section above that, which is a shallow box, contains a zinc water container with about six or nine inches of water; above that is a larger box with the moist sandy soil for propagating. In this the slips or cuttings are placed and being treated with the bottom heat they thrive in a wonderful manner.

Among other striking new plants, shrubs and trees the Kelley & McElroy nursery has recently purchased from Yorba Linda about 300 cocus plumosus palms.

MEETING WAS SUCCESS

The neighborhood gathering at the home of G. S. Smith, 814 W. Broadway, on Saturday evening, was a pleasant and profitable affair. Remarks were made by G. W. Johnson, W. B. Kirk and W. F. Tower favoring Congressman Randall's re-nomination. A violin solo by Miss Susine Wessels and a piano solo by Miss Grace Tower were part of the program. The hostess furnished refreshments.

FAREWELL PARTY

Mrs. George Fish, 1421 Hawthorne street, gave a farewell party to Helen Orr, of Hawthorne street, who with her parents is about to move back to Chicago. Those present were Joy Willisford, Cecelia Daub, Roma Staub, Annie Webber, Lucille Thompson and Helen Orr. A very pleasant time was spent with games and music. Refreshments were served.

CHILD CULTURE STUDY CIRCLE

What proved to be an interesting meeting of the Child Culture Study Circle of the Columbus Avenue district, was held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. H. W. Yarrick, 1447 W. Third street. Eleven members were present. The circle began the study of "Beckonings From Little Hands," by Patterson Dubois.

POULTRY BREEDERS' ASSOCIATION

There are a number of Glendale members of the Poultry Breeders' association of Southern California. Some of these are very active and prominent in the work of that organization. Waler M. Ross, of the Red Wing Poultry ranch of Glendale, is the secretary. The members of this association are looking forward with much interest to the regular monthly meeting, which will be held in the Assembly room of the Times' building, First and Broadway, Los Angeles, Tuesday, June 13, at 8 p. m. On that occasion Prof. J. E. Dougherty, head of the Poultry division of the University of California, will be the speaker of the evening. Prof. Dougherty has had years of experience at the State Experiment Station and will answer questions on poultry subjects.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Nyla Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Chapman, of 1435 Salem street, celebrated her eighth birthday Saturday. In honor of the occasion she invited several of her young acquaintances to share with her the pleasure of this occasion. Those present were: Nellie Lore, Dorothy Sparr, Gladys Sparr, Joy Willisford, Virginia Mull and Margaret Ellis. Mrs. Willisford and Mrs. Ellis assisted Mrs. Chapman in entertaining the children. The diningroom was beautifully decorated in pink and white, with a profusion of white and pink carnations. In the center of the table was a large box in the shape of a pink rose. To this were attached ribbons which stretched to each guest's place at the table. On pulling the ribbons each child found an appropriate little present. Games helped to pass away the time. Delicious refreshments were served. One little girl—Nellie Lore—won all the prizes. Nyla, the little hostess, received appropriate and acceptable gifts from each guest.

PHILATHEA CLASS

The monthly business meeting and social hour of the Philathea class of the Presbyterian church was held at the home of Miss Vivian Engle, Tuesday evening. Miss Engle was assisted by Miss Vera Grant. After a three-course dinner was served the business of the class was discussed at some length. The business of the meeting being disposed of all formality was thrown aside and the girls had a pleasant time.

Miss Horsch, the president of the class, has left for New York city to be in attendance at a missionary conference, where she expects to receive an appointment to the foreign missionary fields. While East Miss Horsch will visit many points of interest. As the date for the next Philathea meeting will fall on July 4, the meeting will be held July 6 in the church.

OPENING OF NATIONAL CONVENTIONS

It is not too much to say that the eyes of the nation are on Chicago today. To that Mecca of Republican and Progressive hopes the mind of the nation turns inevitably, for a mighty issue hangs on what is to be done there. Michigan boulevard is thronged today with jostling crowds. The hotel lobbies are packed with beribboned and bebadged visitors. Everywhere there is a plethora of talk. The stream of argument, expostulation, contradiction and protest flows on unceasingly. The quip courteous, the countercheck quarrelsome and the lie direct are heard on every hand.

With all this, which is the usual accompaniment of a national convention, there is also an air of anxiety, for great national issues hang on the results of the next few days. Those who remember the steam roller and its Juggernaut progress four years ago are astonished at the air of subdued earnestness that has taken the place of the arrogant and intolerant aggressiveness of a certain section of the Republican party.

In the same city, separated from the Republicans by a few blocks, are the Progressives in convention. They are a formidable body. They cannot be brushed out of the public arena and their presence in separate convention is a source of considerable discomfort to the steam-roller engineers.

There is, of course, a chance that the bruises caused by the steam roller four years ago may heal up entirely and that the two conventions may yet fraternize. Republicans and Progressives are anxious to agree on a candidate. When they meet in the streets of Chicago they hail each other as brothers, not as political enemies. Harmony is in the air and it may well be that the uncompromising policy of the standpatters may be relegated to the scrap pile.

As might be expected reports from the field of contest tell that some of the leaders of the Republican and Progressive parties are still maintaining an air of aloofness mixed with curiosity as to what the other side is doing; but there is a general feeling that tact and consideration of each other's feelings and susceptibilities may bring both together on a common platform. It may be that that is too much to expect from weak human nature. It is, nevertheless, the consummation which is devoutly wished by the thinking men of both parties.

There is a great deal of routine work that must be got through with before the real work of the conventions can be approached. Calling to order, prayer, introductory speeches by the national chairmen and the setting to work of the convention committees is about all that is ever accomplished in any national convention on the first day.

Not until Thursday will the real attack begin. The keynote of the convention will be sounded on that day by the speeches of the temporary chairmen. Tonight the Resolutions committees are expected to begin their long grind of hearings and closed sessions, leading up to the formulation of platforms.

Out of all that bedlam of noise—the roar of 12,000 voices from the galleries and the floor, the talk, the stamping of feet, the whispering and shouting, the outbursts of demonstrations for the favorite sons and the mighty waves of applause that will roll up to the speaker's desk as some significant name or phrase is mentioned, will eventually come a decision that will be fraught with lasting significance to the whole nation.

OUTBREAK IN SANTO DOMINGO

Strict censorship at the instance of the United States government is preventing the truth regarding the revolt in Santo Domingo from becoming known in this country. The island has been in a condition of revolt for some time. It will be remembered that the revolt began in the other half of the island which is occupied by the republic of Hayti.

Hayti is a "black republic." It was able to liberate itself from the domination of Napoleon through a revolt of the slaves against the planters and their slave-holding system, not because of the fighting power of the negroes, though that under the guidance of the negro genius Toussaint L'Ouverture, was wonderfully exploited; but because the yellow fever came to the aid of the blacks and fought against the whites.

Decimated and destroyed the French withdrew from the island, which afterward became notorious as the scene of the most corrupt negro republic in the world. Nowhere, not even in Liberia, has the black man so positively and undeniably manifested his total incapacity for self-government, at his present stage of development, than in Hayti and San Domingo. The two republics have been more corrupt than anyone could imagine and as the United States professes to have a kind of moral overlordship over the republics, to this country has fallen the lot of trying to bring order out of the chaos on the island.

This country has recently gone through the ordeal of setting the sister republic of Hayti on its feet and of exercising a supervision over it that has been greatly for its benefit. Now, as far as can be learned, the other black republic has revolted against American interference and has fought against the American naval forces. The result of this fighting has been that Captain Herbert J. Hirschinger of the Marine corps, was killed the other day when landing his men to suppress the rebellion.

Just at present the United States censorship is as stringent on all news coming from the island as is the British or German censorship over the war in Europe. There has been a forced landing near Puerto Plata, where several hundred United States marines from the cruiser Salem fought a pitched battle against the blacks. The engagement lasted two hours and in the course of the fighting the United States officer commanding the landing party was killed.

Now it has been learned that a reserve force is being sent to the island consisting of the entire Fourth regiment of Marines, now stationed at San Diego. These men number about 1000. They will doubtless be delighted to go, for the American marines love nothing

SUMMER SUN

Great is the sun, and wide he goes
Through empty heavens without repose;
And in the blue and glowing days
More thick than rain he showers his rays.

Though closer still the blinds we pull
To keep the shady parlor cool,
Yet he will find a chink or two
To slip his golden fingers through.

The dusty attic spider-clad
He, through the keyhole, maketh glad;
And through the broken edge of tiles
Into the laddered hayloft smiles.

Meantime his golden face around
He bares to all the garden ground,
And sheds a warm and glittering look
Among the ivy's inmost nook.

Above the hills, along the blue,
Round the bright air with footing true,
To please the child, to paint the rose,
The gardener of the world, he goes.

—Robert Louis Stevenson.

BEAUTY HELPS

The country girl has many things close at hand to aid in beauty. A dainty Italian cream is made from the seeds of pumpkins, melons and cucumbers ground fine, mixed with sweet cream like paste, add a trifle of perfume.

Chapped hand washes are made from quince seeds with extract of witch hazel.

Mutton tallow is the basis of the best skin creams, softened with almond oil, color with currants, lettuce, spinach, rose or violet petals.

Watermelon juice is a favorite Southern face wash.

The acid of strawberries is fine for a bleach, better than lemon.

Tomato juice is very good for an oily, greasy skin.

For a clear skin, avoid candy, coffee, tea, and highly spiced food. Eat many vegetables and fruits.

Celery and carrots are fine for the complexion.

Drink at least three pints of water daily.

LIFE'S LESSON

A child came close to his teacher's side,
His book tightly clasped in his little hand.

"Teacher," he said, with wistful eyes,
"We're coming to words that I don't understand;

I've turned the pages over and over,
And the words are so big, and they're all so new;

When we come to the lesson where they are put,
Oh, teacher, I don't know what I'll do."

The teacher smiled at the troubled face,
And tenderly stroked the curly head.

"Before we reach them I think that you will learn
The way to read them," she gently said;

"But if you shouldn't, I'll help you then.
And don't you think that the wisest plan

Is to learn the lesson that comes today,
And learn it the very best you can?"

And it seems to me it is so with us;
We look at the days that are still ahead—

The days that perchance may never be ours—
With a pitiful longing and nameless dread.

But surely the teacher who gives the task
Will lovingly watch as we try to read

With faltering tongue and tear-dimmed eyes,
And will help his children in time of need.

CHINESE BRACELETS AS HAT RINGS

Quite the newest use to which the heavy Chinese bracelets have been put is in hat adornment; nor is their use in this connection wholly ornamental, for their purpose is largely that the hat may be carried on the arm when one is off for a country walk. The bracelet is affixed firmly and at only one point, either at the crown or near the brim's edge, so that the hand can slip through. Sometimes the bracelet is used as part of the hat's ornament; for instance, a worsted parrot is embroidered flat on the hat, and the bracelet placed on its back.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Thursday; cloudy along the coast; westerly winds.

more dearly than a scrap and it is good practice for them. When they reach the island Admiral Caperton will have under him about 3000 men. That force should be sufficient to maintain order in both Hayti and Santo Domingo.

Santo Domingo has been in a continuous state of unrest and a chronic condition of fighting ever since the withdrawal of President Jimenez. It will be remembered that that president has been fighting more or less during the past twelve years, having made several attempts to gain control of the island before managing to seat himself in the presidential chair. Having exploited the republic and gained sufficient to retire on he gave up his government and the republic has been the scene of desultory fighting ever since. American overlordship would be a blessing to the natives.

THACKERAY A GOOD-NATURED CYNIC

"It has been said of Thackeray that he was a cynic. This has been said so generally that the charge against him has become proverbial," says Antony Trollope, who then goes on to quote from a poem by Shirley Brooks, originally published in Punch:

"He was a cynic. By his life all wrought
Of generous acts, mild words and gentle ways;
His heart wide open to all kindly thought,
His hand so quick to give, his tongue to praise.

"He was a cynic. You might read it writ
In that broad brow, crowned with its silver hair;
In those blue eyes, with childlike candor lit.
In that sweet smile his lips were wont to wear."

"If he wrote as a cynic," continues Mr. Trollope, "it may be fair that he who is to be known as a writer should be so called. But, as a man, I protest that it would be hard to find an individual farther removed from the character. Over and outside his fancy, which was the gift which made him so remarkable, a certain feminine softness was the most remarkable trait about him. To give pleasure was the great delight of his life. His charity was overflowing. His generosity was excessive."

Owing to the scarcity of paper, the Hertfordshire County Council, England, has re-introduced slates in the public elementary schools in lieu of copy books.

TROPICO TRUSTEES MEET

The Tropico Board of Trustees met in regular session Tuesday evening at the city hall at 7:30 p. m., with President Frank E. Peters, Fred A. Alspach, Chas. H. Henry and Walter C. Seal present, A. C. Boyce absent. The following city officers were also present: Margaret R. Coleman, clerk; Hartley Shaw, city attorney; I. C. Wasson, street superintendent; J. W. Gould, city marshal, and Dr. W. C. Mabry, health officer. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The regular order of business was suspended in order to take up the matter of consolidation with the City of Glendale. Quite a number of the adherents were present and presented a petition, signed by 441 voters setting forth the various advantages to be gained by consolidating with the City of Glendale and asking the board to call a special election to vote on the consolidation proposition. The petition was received and the clerk ordered to verify the names thereon to determine whether or not a sufficient number of qualified voters were on the petition to legally call an election and to report at the next meeting.

In support of the annexation petition the petitioners filed a communication from the trustees of the City of Glendale setting forth the advantages to be gained by both Glendale and Tropico by annexation and stating also the plans along which the business of the two cities would be handled.

In the matter of opening and widening East Acacia street, it seems that the ownership of a strip 30 feet wide east of Adams street was in doubt and the city attorney reported that he had examined the records and in his judgment the city was entitled to the disputed territory and the street superintendent was instructed to remove the fences and other obstructions so that the street might be used.

The city attorney also reported that he had succeeded in obtaining a rehearing in the water rate case and said hearing was held June 1st and that the commission had taken the matter under advisement but that the former rates were to be in effect until a decision was rendered. It was the city attorney's opinion that their report would be much more favorable to the city than their former ruling.

The city engineer reported that he had conferred with Engineer Reagan in regard to the storm water control of Sycamore canyon. And it was Mr. Reagan's intention to work in conjunction with Tropico and Glendale in handling the water that comes out of this canyon. He said it was Mr. Reagan's opinion that the building of retaining dams in the canyon would be a great help in handling this water in the storm season. The city engineer urged the board to take some action to see that the wash channel, which lies in Tropico, was cleaned of trees and rubbish and pointed out to them the various places that were needed to be looked after and repaired.

The city clerk reported that there remained in the Acacia street fund $462.44 and asked for an order to transfer this amount to the general fund. A warrant was ordered drawn for the transfer.

Mr. G. A. Mudgett of Green street was present and complained of the condition in which the contractor had left a large accumulation of dirt at the entrance to Hill street, stating that it was impossible for residents on Green street to get in or out, and asked that the board require the contractor to remove the obstruction. He was assured that the matter would be looked after at once.

Trustee Seal reported that he had been reliably informed that the oil station at the corner of Tropico avenue and San Fernando road was carrying more gasoline and distillate than was allowed by the city ordinance governing the same. The city marshal was ordered to enforce the ordinance.

The city marshal asked instructions in regard to the collection of dog taxes. He was instructed that inasmuch as the proposed ordinance governing kennels had never been brought up he should proceed to collect the dog taxes under the existing ordinance.

Adjournment.

LIBERTY OF THOUGHT AND DISCUSSION

"If all mankind minus one were of one opinion," John Stuart Mills says in his essay "On Liberty," and only one person were of the contrary opinion, mankind would be no more justified in silencing mankind. Were an opinion a personal possession of no value except to the owner; if to be obstructed in the enjoyment of it were simply a private injury, it would make some difference whether the injury was inflicted only on a few persons or on many. But the peculiar evil of silencing the expression of an opinion is that it is robbing the human race; posterity as well as the existing generation; those who dissent from the opinion, still more than those who hold it. If the opinion is right, they are deprived of the opportunity of exchanging error for truth; if wrong, they lose, what is almost as great a benefit, the clearer perception and livelier impression of truth, produced by its collision with error."

MODEL KITCHEN

In the model kitchen installed by Mrs. Georgia Boynton Child, a kitchen efficiency expert, at her experimental housekeeping station in Stamford, Conn., there are no closed cupboards. Instead, narrow shelves run entirely around the kitchen walls, on which are arranged the jars, bottles, utensils, cans, boxes, and implements used in different parts of the room.

"The ordinary deep closet shelf," says Mrs. Child, "means that some articles must be placed behind others. This involves pushing some aside to get at others, and frequently the jar or paper box that is wanted in a hurry is hidden away behind something else, so that one must grope and reach here and there for it. Having each article in full view, on a shelf where it cannot be concealed by anything else, and where one can instantly put one's hand on it, means kitchen comfort of a high degree. Dust gathers no more quickly on these shelves than in a cupboard, and, in fact, what dust there is to accumulate is removed much more promptly, because it can be seen."

NEW BATHING SUITS

By MARGARET MASON

If when you don your bathing suit, You've chosen it with care, As on the beach to bathe you are en route, You'll find you have a following Replete with son and heir, It follows everyman will follow suit.

NEW YORK, June 7.—If you want to take a dip then you'd better take a tip and select a suit impervious to water, for they're making more and more suits for bathing on the shore and to wear them in the wet you hadn't oughter. In fact, most everyone is for bathing in the sun and if you have desire for surf and brine, a one-piece suit is best, it will stand the aqua test and it fits a perfect figure simply fine. But if you think it fun just linger near the sun—and of course a moneyed son you much prefer, there are ruffled suits galore that the brightest sons are for. They excite to envy human maids or mer. Of taffeta they're made, in all or any shade, but there's one of green that simply is divine. The skirt is ruffled four and there simply can't be more, because above the knees it draws the line. The neck is rather low with a ruffle round it so and the sleeves of course are nothing much to mention. It's cap is ruffled too, with its knickers out of view and to make appearance they have no intention.

Another suit of blue flaunts something very new, around the hips believe me 'tis a hoop. There are scallops by and fore down the front and then some more round the skirt but it's the hoop that is the coup. And so if you are brave in the trough of ocean wave you can go and roll your hoop with perfect ease. So hoop-a-la my dear hoops at first you may think queer, but for bathing suits they're chic soon each agrees.

With sandals on her feet, clasping close her ankle neat, here's a maiden looks just like the Russian ballet, for her bathing suit bizarre has indeed a rainbow air as some ribbons blue, pink, purple round it rally. There is yellow ribbon too and the suit is green in hue and its two tiered skirt hangs down in jagged points that the divers ribbons edge and the knickers closely hedge her shapely nether limbs below the knee joints. Near the hips are ribbons placed that half gather in her waist, but the ribbons don't extend across the front. From square neck it falls quite plain and thus length of line doth gain and it makes it a good model for a runt. The sleeves are pointed tabs with more bright ribbon dabs. Oh this bathing suit sure keeps the ribbons busy, for they also trim the neck and the helmet cap, by heck, and the whole things sure to make the fishes dizzy.

There are bathing mantles too that have stripes of hectic hue that bisect their ample folds of Tussock silk and I think you will agree if rare sights you wish to see at the sea shore we will see more of this ilk.

FEARLESSNESS OF SCIENCE

When scientists are in pursuit of their work they face danger with apparent carelessness, to ferret out proofs of a theory. This was exemplified recently by Prof. Lawrence Power, of the Department of Zoology of the University of Chicago. Prof. Power is in Mexico to study potato bugs.

Apparently he is undismayed by the unsettled condition of the country and gives little thought to personal danger from war parties. He expects to obtain data concerning certain varieties of bugs found in Mexico which will lead to the discovery of a means for exterminating the pests in the United States.

A MOSQUITO HUNT

The first live mosquito captured this summer in Minneapolis, Minn., will be worth an infinite number of times its weight in gold. To accentuate in the public mind the beginning of the mosquito season, the Minneapolis Real Estate Board, which has launched a mosquito-extermination campaign, will give a five-dollar gold piece to the person who captures the first live one. The person who makes the capture must be prepared to make an affidavit that the mosquito is an outdoor product and not a "hothouse" insect.

The plan has attracted the attention of the general public of Minneapolis and will undoubtedly lead to a determined effort on the part of thousands of people toward capturing and eliminating mosquitoes.

BEREA'S ENTERPRISE

The library of Berea College, in Kentucky, has a unique and praiseworthy feature in its extension department. The purpose is to distribute suitable books, magazines and pictures to the people living in the mountain section of the State from which the students of Berea are drawn. These for the most part are people isolated for three or four months in the winter. The library also distributes literature to homes nearer and to schoolhouses.

The library contains 30,000 volumes. The college needs money to purchase wagons to distribute these books. Undoubtedly it will be one of the most useful enterprises ever planned for the benefit of people who are shut in by mountains, weather, and other conditions over which they have little or no control.

FILM OF GROWING PLANT

CAMP CURRY, Yosemite Valley, June 7.—To steal and then to take pictures of the stolen goods—this is A. C. Pillsbury's idea of the way to make movies. After trying for two years to secure permission from the Yosemite National Park officials to pick a snow plant in the Yosemite Valley, Pillsbury at last secured the permit, dug up the plant on the heights above Camp Curry and brought it to his studio. For four days the movie camera has been watching it grow, clicking once every thirteen minutes. It will take just forty seconds to run the film on the screen. Forty other similar studies will be combined with it to complete a reel on the Wild Flowers of the Yosemite.

WOMEN'S NEW OCCUPATIONS

Between seventy and eighty women conductors are to be seen in the service of the London General Omnibus company. They are paid at the same rates, on a mileage basis, as men conductors have been paid and for the same duties and hours.

Women have been introduced as workers along the docks of the Mersey River; but the men laborers have entered such serious objections that they will probably not remain at this long. As a general thing it has been said that the women workers, in any kind of occupation into which they have been drawn since the beginning of the war, have been a success in both England and in France.

EXPENSES AT YALE

For the education of 325 seniors at Yale college, slightly more than $1,000,000 has been required. While it is a fact that $4,073 for the entire four years is an average cost of a student at Yale, one man alone has spent $15,000 in the process of going through the course, while another has required only $800 to provide his education.

In this connection it is a noteworthy fact that 120 members of the class have earned their way through college either in part or in whole, having earned together a grand total of more than $300,000.

LINCOLN HIGHWAY SIGNS

The Lincoln Highway association is putting into effect plans for the repainting and standardizing the road markers on the route of the highway all across the country. A trained crew of painters will be sent over the road to make all the signs uniform. There will be eight markers to the mile and two at every turn in all the cities and villages.

The Lincoln Highway Association will furnish all the material, and the communities along the route will be asked to contribute proportionately to pay the salaries of the men doing the work. Thus each community will have the work done at a much smaller expense than if they were doing it locally. It will be the greatest benefit to all tourists making the cross-country trip.

GREAT OIL WELL

What is said to be the greatest oil in the world was recently tapped near Tampico, Mexico, by the Mexican Petroleum Company. The measured output of the well is 260,000 barrels daily. When the oil was struck the outburst came with such force that the valve of the case was broken off, the derrick destroyed, and a great geyser of oil shot upward through the air 600 feet. The drill bit, which weighed two tons, was hurled 125 feet from the well. For two miles around, the country was saturated with crude petroleum almost as if it had rained oil. One million barrels flowed out of the crater before the stream could be brought under control.

Native laborers were called in from the whole country round to erect a dam around the flooded area. By this method half a million barrels were saved. The force increased so rapidly, however, that the lake of oil rose faster than the workmen were able to build up the dam, and the surplus had to be burned.

WINDING 700 WATCHES

While the winding of one's watch would seem to call for only a small amount of energy it assumes a significant aspect when this is repeated several hundred times, as in the instance of a watch-repairing concern in New York City, part of whose work is to wind 700 watches, or more, each day. To facilitate the work, the firm uses an electric motor which drives a small felt-lined socket through friction drive.

It is only necessary to start the motor and hold the stem of a watch against the felt-lined socket to wind the timepiece. When the watch is wound the tickened spring overcomes the pressure between the motor pulley and the friction disk with the result that action ceases. Simple as this watch-winding equipment is, it has replaced several men formerly required for the work.

DETERIORATION

Uncle Ezra—Did you see "Hamlet" at the opera-house last night? Uncle Even—Yep, and I tell you that fellow Shakespeare is certainly falling off. It wasn't near as good as his "Comedy of Errors" that I saw twenty years ago.

JEFFERSON'S WRITINGS

"The life of this man is so interesting that one is bound to be disappointed in his writings. Not that they are scant—a small part of them fills ten volumes—but because they are so practical and didactic in purpose that they obscure Jefferson's romantic idealism, which is, in our judgment, the most significant thing about him," writes William J. Long. "First in importance we would place the Letters, which furnish a critical commentary on the men and events of a stirring historical period. The chief trouble with these letters is their abundance. There are thousands of them, and until they are all explored, and the best collected into a volume, we shall hardly appreciate their value. Meanwhile, one must read them as one goes through a mine, avoiding the rubbish and stopping only when one finds a nugget. Here, for instance, is a letter that Jefferson, the president, wrote to lonely old Samuel Adams—a generous, glowing tribute from one patriot in his hour of triumph to another patriot . . . which would make us honor the author even if he had never written anything else."

"Two other works belong to the borderland between literature and history. The Autobiography with its keen observation, its pictures of the men he had known and of the great events in which he had taken part, is extremely valuable to the historian, and many general readers find it more interesting than Franklin's better-known story of his life. The Notes on Virginia in a series of essays written in response to questions of the secretary of the French legation, who was collecting information about America for his home government. These essays, with their descriptions of nature, their pictures of Indian and slave life, their discussion of political, religious, and economical questions, are invaluable to the student of our early history. They outline a picture of the country as it was at the beginning of its national career."

MECHANICAL MUSIC

A hand machine which makes it easy to cut records of any music for a player piano has been invented by a Dayton, Ohio, man. It has a miniature keyboard for indicating exactly where to cut in the notes. A slotted guide plate can be shifted back and forth to guide the cutter and to regulate the length of the perforation which is to be made to produce the note, or notes, of the required length.

Heretofore records for mechanical piano players have been supplied to the public by manufacturers whose factories are equipped with expensive machinery of the automatic type. The new device makes it easy for any musician to cut his own rolls, it being possible to cut from thirty-five to forty notes per minute with the hand-operated machine.

Though I have been trained as a soldier, and participated in many battles, there never was a time when, in my opinion, some way could not be found to prevent the drawing of the sword.—General Grant.

THE SUN WAS UP, THE COUNTRY WOKE

We left the city, street and square,
With lamplights blimmering through and through,
And turned us toward the suburb, where—
Full from the east—the fresh wind blew.

One cloud stood overhead the sun—
A glorious trail of dome and spire,
The last star flickered and was gone,
The first lark led the matin choir.

Wet was the grass beneath our tread,
Thick-dewed the bramble by the way,

The lichen had a lovelier red,
The elder flower a fairer gray.

The beeches sighed through all their boughs;

The gusty pennons of the pine
Swayed in a melancholy drowse,
But with a motion sternly fine.

One gable, full against the sun,
Flooded with garden space beneath
With spices, sweet as cinnamon,
From all its honeysuckled breath.

Then crew the cocks from eeking farms

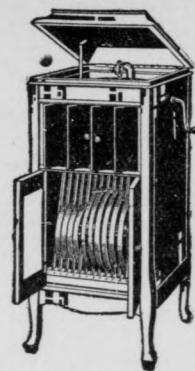

The chimney tops were plumed with smoke,
The windmill shook its slanted arms,
The sun was up, the country woke

THE SOUTH SEA FINGER-BOWL

Civilized man did not invent the finger-bowl either in form or in use. It was used in the South Sea Islands some hundreds of years before Europeans and Americans found out that it was necessary to their own refinement. A bowl of water is handed around to every diner in a South Sea house.

This South Sea finger-bowl is half a coconut shell, beautiful, useful, practically unbreakable, yet not of sufficient worth to prevent its being thrown away tomorrow and replaced by a fresh one from the nearest palm.—Selected.

THE VETERANS

Each year their steps are slower,
They halt with heavier tread;
Shoulders bend ever lower,
Age whitened every head;
Yet at the drum beat's calling
The broken ranks close in;
Into the old step falling,
That when the battle's din
Raged fiercest found them ready,
Young men erect and tall,
Eyes bright and purpose steady
To win, or fighting, fall.
The same flag proudly waving
Its colors overhead
Their comrades died in saving,
The blue, the white, the red;
These sad-eyed veterans slowly
Their tributes hither bring
To moss-grown graves and lowly,
The first sweet flowers of spring.
Soon will another drum beat
Be marshaling to rest
These tired, halting, old feet,
And on another quest
Their souls will soon be going;
Watch them with reverent eye,
These brave old soldiers, showing
Their love for those who die.
—Helen M. Richardson.

A BEAR'S MISTAKE

While on his way back to camp after a day's shooting, a Californian came in sight of a big she-bear with two cubs following her in single file. They were proceeding along a ridge, the forms of all of them sharply defined against the evening sky.

It was a long range for a shot, but the sportsman drew a bead on the old she-bear and fired. The result was amusing. The procession stopped. Then the she-bear scratched herself hastily, turned round, and, regarding the cub immediately behind with severe disapproval, boxed its ears soundly.

Mother Bear then went on her way, her back uncommonly rigid and unrelenting, and it was clearly apparent to the sportsman that she was under the impression that her frolicsome offspring had been up to some mischief that must not be repeated.—Exchange.

Several funerals in Birkenhead, England, were postponed recently owing to the continuance of the grave diggers strike.
